

Hot Spots for Wildlife

Fancy getting out into the great outdoors, rather than sitting in wildlife watch

www.wildlifewatch.org.uk watching endless telly or playing endless computer games? This might be your big chance! Why not look into it today?

So where are your local hotspots for wildlife? It could be your own back garden, your street or your school grounds. It's great to get to know your area well.

To discover your important local wildlife sites, contact:

- Your local Wildlife Trust www.durhamwt.co.uk/
- The Badger Group www.durhamcountybadgers.co.uk
- Your local council
- Your tourist information office
- People you know

To make the most of your local area or to a local nature reserve, find out:

- What makes the place special
- The best time of day or season to visit
- Whether there is anyone on site to help you
- If and when there are guided events

Be prepared! You could look up information or photos of the sort of plants and animals you might find there.

Take reference books, binoculars, a camera and a notebook.

Wildlife Watch is the junior branch of The Wildlife Trusts and the UK's leading environmental action club for kids. If you care about nature and the environment and want to explore your local wildlife – this is the club for YOU!

There are 150,000 Wildlife Watch members around the UK. Taking part in Wildlife Watch is an exciting way to explore your surroundings and get closer to the wildlife you share it with.

© Durham County Badger Group 2012 Adapted from information by The Wildlife Trusts. Wildlife Watch is the junior branch of the Wildlife Trusts.